"India’s first Sunflower oil processed without the use of Caustic and Sulphuric acid, produced from the highest quality seeds using wind energy to offset the carbon foot print. We at Masoom group have consulted with experts in the field from U.S.A in relation with the Sunflower association of U.S.A, who have helped improve the standard of the process to those of the European level. We use the latest, state of the art equipment from all over the world to produce products that are unique. Our units have fully-fledged labs that allows it to carry out research and development programmes with the help of highly qualified personnel and resources. We have done extensive work in finding ways to reduce the effluents that may be produced during the refining process and strive towards making products that are healthy for the consumers and help us live in a world that will last."
