Ajackus is a global technology company dedicated to solving business challenges by integrating talent, ideas, and technology to deliver impactful results. Founded 13 years ago in a living room, Ajackus has grown significantly, starting with its first client product, Dotloop, which was later acquired by Zillow Inc. for $110 million. The company has since made remarkable contributions across industries like fintech, health tech, travel tech, and prop-tech, helping clients innovate and driving meaningful change. With a diverse team of skilled engineers from India, Ajackus fosters a culture of inclusivity, adaptability, trust, and progressiveness. Its leadership team, led by Founder and CEO Maulik Bengali, ensures a forward-thinking approach to both client and employee success, offering programs like Client Referral and Employee Partnership. Recognized for its commitment to excellence, Ajackus empowers businesses worldwide, impacting millions through innovation and technology.
