India is a beautiful assortment of diversity reflected in our latest jewellery collection. This diversity is so rich and diverse that an attempt to capture it on a single platform was never made. Tistabene is that sincere attempt by bunch of young insane guys and gals who think this is possible now with the Internet.

Tistabene uses a marketplace model to capture the regional variations of India. We connect local artisans & designers directly to Indian customers and thereby increase their livelihood, remove middlemen, help them create/promote their brand and thereby preserve our culture, traditions and values.

As they say starting Tistabene was fate, reaching out to artisans was a choice, but falling in love with the idea of India was beyond our control. Lets relive that old India together again.
