At our training, we unveil a wealth of innovative techniques designed to optimize alignment, incorporating hands-on adjustments, variations, and the strategic use of props such as chairs, bolsters, straps, and blocks. Our aim is simple: to empower you to extract the utmost benefits from your practice and, should you choose, to share these insights with others. We firmly believe that yoga is inclusive and adaptable to all, regardless of individual differences.

Moreover, we recognize the importance of tailoring your practice to suit your unique needs and circumstances. Through personalized guidance, we help you understand which techniques are most beneficial for you at any given time. We encourage you to forge connections between your practice and your personal requirements, as well as external factors such as weather conditions, specific health concerns, periods of stress, fluctuating emotional states, and even cyclical phases.

By imparting this holistic approach, we empower you not only to deepen your own practice but also to cultivate a profound understanding of how yoga can be modified and adapted to address various aspects of life.
