We at ESDS help healthcare and other sectors with the cutting edge Artificial Intelligence and Deep Learning technology to solve the enormous problems faced in the industry.

With the help of the experts in the medical field, and in partnership with Deepiotics we have developed a Artificial Intelligence solution to identify the COVID-19 patients. Our Deep Learning and advanced AI-driven platform uses the conventional x-ray platform that helps to identify corona infection from chest x-ray within 5 minutes. With the help of the available samples, we can meet the accuracy level of 100%. However, we believe that our technology would stand at least accuracy of 96%. As we get more samples of the patient over a period of time, the efficiency of platform will increase to 99.50% -100% permanently.
